A Lifetime Experience

Malaysia, situated in Southeast Asia, boasts of being one of the major tourist destinations in the world. Cultures have been meeting and mixing in Malaysia since the very beginning of its history. Malaysia's cultural mosaic is marked by many different cultures, but several in particular had especially lasting influence on the country. Chief among these is the ancient Malay culture, and the cultures of Malaysia's two most prominent trading partners throughout history—the Chinese, and the Indians. These three groups are joined by a dizzying array of indigenous tribes, many of which live in the island of Borneo. Although each of these cultures has vigorously maintained its traditions and community structures, they have also blended together to create contemporary Malaysia's uniquely diverse heritage resulting in the experience of gastronomical journey.

University of Malaya History & Establishment

Establishment: University of Malaya derives its name from the term 'Malaya' as the country was then known. The University has its roots in Singapore with the establishment of King Edward VII College of Medicine in 1905. In 1949 University of Malaya was formed with the amalgamation of King Edward VII College of Medicine and Raffles College (founded in 1928) in Singapore. The growth of the University was very rapid during the first decade of its establishment and this resulted in the setting up of two autonomous Divisions in 1959, one located in Singapore and the other in Kuala Lumpur. In 1960, the government of the two territories indicated their desire to change the status of the Divisions into that of a national university. Legislation was passed in 1961 and the University of Malaya was established on 1st January 1962.
